

WORKSHOP ON EMPIRICAL MONETARY ECONOMICS 2022

6 & 7 December 2022, PARIS

Call for papers, deadline September 16, 2022

Call for Papers

Workshop on Empirical Monetary Economics 2022

December 6-7, 2022

OFCE, research center in economics of Sciences Po
10 place de Catalogne, 75014 Paris, France

Objective

The purpose of this workshop is to provide the opportunity to discuss and promote topical empirical research related to all areas of monetary economics. Some particularly relevant topics are:

- Inflation dynamics, commodity prices and inflation expectations
- The identification of the transmission channels of monetary policy
- The role of heterogeneity for monetary policy transmission
- Central bank balance sheet policies and quasi-fiscal monetary policies
- Monetary policy and transition risks related to climate change
- Central bank communication strategies

Keynote speakers

- Kristin Forbes (Massachusetts Institute of Technology)
- Luc Laeven (European Central Bank)

Submissions

Please submit a full paper in PDF format to eme.workshop@sciencespo.fr. The deadline for submissions is September 16, 2022. Authors will be notified of decisions shortly after.

Practical information

This two-day workshop will take place at OFCE in Paris, France (or online, depending on health conditions next Fall). There is no registration fee and the workshop does not cover travel and accommodation costs.

Organisers

Christophe Blot (Sciences Po – OFCE and Université Paris-Nanterre)

Paul Hubert (Banque de France and Sciences Po – OFCE)

Scientific Committee

Refet Gürkaynak (Bilkent University and CEPR)

Fabien Labondance (Université de Franche-Comté)

Céline Poilly (Université d'Aix-Marseille AMSE and CEPR)

Giovanni Ricco (University of Warwick and CEPR)

Urszula Szczerbowicz (Banque de France)